The Fictitious Truths of Teddington Library

by Dog Kennel Hill Project

A collection of performance curiosities and artefacts that follow an imagined timeline of the past, present and potential future of the site that is currently Teddington Library.

Following a specially designed map and listening to sound materials from installed headsets you are invited to roam the library interacting with the live and danced exhibits that will be framed delicately around normal library activities.

Dance in Libraries is a 2-year project which seeks to research and reframe library spaces through creative dialogue between dance artists and library users. The project places dance artists-in-residence in library spaces and allows the artists to research and develop ideas in response to the space and people associated with the building.
